BANZAI NIPPON!

From TOKIO Through MANCHURIA
WITH THE JAPANESE

PORT ARTHUR, which Major Louis Livingston Seaman, late of the U. S. Army, risked his life to enter three months ago, fell before the fierce assaults of the Japanese a week ago. This book is a straightforward untrammelled account of some of the operations immediately preceding the fall. Major Seaman is a trained observer and a practised writer. He studied the famous Chinese bandits of Manchuria, and even lived with them for a time. He made three attempts to enter Port Arthur, and was frequently under fire. He took many photographs of the army and of scenes connected with the war.

SUCCESSFUL McCLURG BOOKS

SEVERAL TITLES ON OUR FALL LIST WERE POPULAR TO A REMARKABLE DEGREE, AS THE FOLLOWING PARAGRAPHS INDICATE

in 10 Weeks

MY LADY OF THE NORTH

IT was predicted that Mr. Randall Parrish's second romance would be even more successful than his first, "When Wilderness Was King," and this statement has been amply verified. The five editions were all large editions. Towards Christmas it was impossible to keep up with the orders that came pouring in.

3 Editions of

THE ILLINI

FOR a book of this character and price ($2.00 net) this record is scarcely less remarkable than that of "My Lady of the North." Colonel Carr's "Story of the Prairies" was so distinguished, and made such a strong appeal to all sons of Illinois, that a wave of popularity started almost upon publication day (December 1).

WHEN LITTLE BOYS SING

THE popularity of this charming juvenile was in its way no less sensational than the two above. It is a song and picture book (a class which is notably very hard to sell in any quantity), yet large numbers were bought with the greatest eagerness, and it would seem to prove that there is always a demand for a book which is really inspired, and absolutely different from anything of the kind previously brought out.

FARMINGTON

THE quiet charm of Clarence Darrow's idyl of boyhood made itself felt in spite of all the holiday clamor and the demand for more striking or spectacular works. Its success is of the kind that lasts, and it is expected that many more editions will be required in the years to come.

And finally it may be noted that we have just ordered the SIXTH EDITION of "WHEN WILDERNESS WAS KING."

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in preparation, for early issue, a new novel by Miss Murfree, ("Charles Egbert Craddock,") entitled "The Storm Center," which is said to be a return to the manner of "The Prophet of the Great Smoky Mountain."

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will bring out at once the second of the new two-volume edition of the "Poems of Dante Gabriel Rossetti," edited by W. M. Rossetti, who has provided full explanatory notes. Among the new poems are three never before published and one which was withdrawn soon after its appearance. The edition, as already noted, has been limited to 1000 sets for England and America.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish next month Professor George Santayana's work, "Life of Reason," in two volumes. The author's general view of the universe and its problems is said to be a variant of the most recent and popular phase of philosophy known as "pragmatism," but it is described as "an original and brilliant statement of this general view and the most important recent work in philosophy by an American scholar."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just published "Electricity Control," a treatise on electric switchgear and systems of electric transmission, by Leonard Andrews, member of the Institution of Civil Engineers. The volume is illustrated with two plates and 204 figures in the text. They have also just published the fourteenth edition of "Steam and Steam Engines," by Andrew Jamieson, a work which has become a standard in its field, and in its present form is practically a new book, the contents having been rewritten and the entire volume reindexed. The volume is illustrated with 400 figures, including 11 special plates, and deals specifically with turbines and boilers. New editions of "Fever Nursing," by Dr. J. C. Wilson, and of a "Text-Book of Horseshoeing," by Professor A. Lungwitz and John W. Adams, are also just ready.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in press the sixth volume of John Bach McMaster's "History of the People of the United States," which deals with the period of Jackson, the nullification and the war of the United States banks; a work on "The Life Insurance Company," by William Alexander, secretary of the Equitable Life Insurance Company and brother of James W. Alexander, president of that company; "The House of Hawley," a touching story of an iron-willed old grandfather and the young granddaughter whom he really loves, but from whom he is estranged for a year on account of his disapproval of the man she marries; also, "The Fire of Spring," a story by Margaret Potter, of Chicago, whose first book, written when she was very young and impulsive was so intense in spots that her father bought up the entire edition and suppressed it.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will publish this month a new book by Booth Tarkington, entitled "In the Arena." The book will contain the magazine stories that have grown out of the author's experiences, dealing chiefly with political characters and political situations in a small Middle West community. The simple Hoosier people and the humorous and pathetic figures that rise out of the rural population into political prominence are specially sympathetically shown in Mr. Tarkington's stories. They will bring out in February "The Return of Sherlock Holmes." The book will contain thirteen stories, and will be illustrated by Charles Raymond Macaulay. In these thirteen new tales Sherlock Holmes is even more astute, brilliant and astounding than ever before. He has kept pace with his readers, and offers them far more complex problems than of yore, which he unravels with even greater deftness. The same mystery, the same impending perils, the same hair-breadth escapes that thrilled in former volumes are present in this new one.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JANUARY 7, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

AMERICAN BOOK AUCTION SALES.

THE American book auction season from September, 1903, to September, 1904, like that in England for the same period, was by no means brilliant. According to Luther S. Livingston's carefully prepared "American Book Prices Current, 1903-1904," just brought out by Dodd, Mead & Co., the 80,000 lots offered in the 119 sales show a considerable falling off even in numbers from the record of the season of 1903.

The most characteristic feature of the season was the unusual number of expensive subscription books, (so-called,) that were thrown upon the market—"thrown," we agree with Mr. Livingston, is the proper word to use. The greatest collection of this sort ever sold was the library of Howard T. Goodwin, of Philadelphia, disposed of in 1903 by Stan V. Henkels, the remarkable consignment of subscription limited editions from the library of Jacob Ruppert, Jr., of New York, sold by Anderson, and the library of Jonas H. French, of Boston, sold by Libbie & Co. The Goodwin collection, commented upon in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY in December 5, 1903, failed to realize much more than fifteen cents on the dollar originally invested in the books, and the fate of the other two collections was not much more enviable, emphasizing the fact that no inherently worthless thing acquires value simply because it is found in only a few examples. Most of the pretentious reprints represented in these sales were not worth even the so-called cost of manufacture, as is proven by the fact that the sets of Scott and Dumas in the Goodwin collection, for example, that had cost nominally $100 a volume, sold for less than ten dollars the volume.

The Chubbuck and Hurst collection were the most notable, if not the only notable ones that were put up for sale during the last season. The items of Americana in the Chubbuck collection, Mr. Livingston considers the best books sold during the season. These included such items as: Budd's "Good Order Established in Pennsylvania and New Jersey," 1685; Castell's "Discoverie of the Coasts and Continent of America," 1644; the second edition of Eliot's "Indian Bible," 1680-85; Foxe's "Northwest Fox," 1635; James's "Strange and Dangerous Voyage," 1633; Johnson's "Nova Britannia," 1609, and his "New Life of Virginia," 1612; Lescarbot's "Nouvelle France," 1609 and 1618, also, Eron-delle's translation, 1609; Thomas Morton's "New English Canaan," 1637; Nathaniel Morton's "New England's Memorial," 1669; Mour's "Relation, or, Journall of the Beginning and Proceedings of the Plantation at Plimouth in New England," 1622; Simcoe's "Journal of Operations of the Queen's Rangers," 1787, etc. The collection included also some first editions of great rarity and value, among them being a Hawthorne item, "The Sister Years," for the first time offered at auction. There were three privately printed Holmes items, being the same copies which were disposed of in the Livermore sale in 1894, a perfectly clean and spotless set of the three numbers of Lowell's short-lived literary monthly, The Pioneer, Hawthorne's "Fانشawe," etc.

The first portion of the library of the late Bishop John F. Hurst, of Washington, was sold at Anderson's on May 2 and 3. This included his Washington and Franklin collections, among them a number of books from Washington's library. The few which were authenticated by having Washington's own autograph on the title-page brought, generally, high prices. One of two copies sent to Washington by the editor of Washington's "Official Letters to the Honorable American Congress," London, 1795, is considered by Mr. Livingston the most interesting and valuable piece in the collection. This brought $2810. The other copy sold in Philadelphia in 1895 for $1650. The books printed by Franklin, of which the series was a long one, with numerous duplicates, sold, with a few exceptions, at moderate prices. The collection of Poor Richard Almanacks was the most numerous ever offered at auction. The earliest of these, the Almanac for 1739, brought $565.

A small but very choice collection of literary manuscripts and autograph letters belonging to George M. Williamson, (including the original manuscripts of Hawthorne's "The Ancestral Footsteps" and "Feathertop," and Poe's "System of Dr. Tarr and Professor Fether,") and a selection from the collection of the late John H. V. Arnold came up for sale during the season; also, two portions of the great collection of American prints belonging to Hampton L. Carson, of Philadelphia. The first portion of the Carson collection, the engraved photographs of Washington, was the finest and most extensive series ever offered at auction; the second portion comprised the portraits of Jefferson, Franklin and Lafayette. The sale of the collection of John Howard Payne's manuscripts and letters, including Payne's love letters to and from Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley, sold in Philadelphia in April, 1904, created but a mild sensation, and sold for $860.

As to prices, the average, while slightly higher than that realized during the English book auction season—being roughly about $14.15 in this country as against £2 9s. in England—is less than it was a year ago, when the average reached quite $16 the volume.

THE STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE ANNUAL MEETING.

THE regular annual meeting of the Stationers' Board of Trade was held on the afternoon of the 3d inst., at the rooms of the Board, 97 Nassau Street, New York City, the president, Henry C. Bainbridge, presiding. There were present or represented by proxy forty-six members.

The president read the following address that was unanimously approved.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

Another year has passed and we are again assembled at the annual meeting to hear the reports of our officers, and have them render an account of their stewardship. Our organization is now in its thirtieth year, and while its growth in membership has not been as great as we would desire, it has grown in honor, and has earned the confidence of its members and the respect of everybody with whom it has business dealings. I am pleased to say, however, that our list of members shows an increase of seven over last year, a growth which I hope will continue—and I believe it will, so long as we continue to give our members what I believe we are giving them now, better service for less money than they can get elsewhere.

The treasurer's report shows an increase of cash assets over last year of nearly $1500.

The various departments show large increase of business with satisfactory results which have inured to the benefit of the members and the increase of the balance sheet.

The Information Department has been used to a larger extent than in previous years, and very few of the members have used it in excess of the two hundred limit; yet quite a number have used it to about the limit, and we are in position to-day to give just as good, if not better, reports than some of the larger agencies, as comparison will show. In addition to the "Weekly Circular" sent to members we have issued over 1400 "Special Circulars," mainly in failure and bankruptcy cases directly upon receipt of the information.

In the Collection Department the draft system has been quite generally used with successful results at an expense of only 2 per cent. fee to the member on the amount collected by payment direct to the bank, and we cannot recommend it too highly as being a first-class method of collecting past due claims. The amount of claims collected in dollars and cents is far in excess of last year—say at least $19,000 or $20,000; of course, the fees received upon same have increased accordingly, so that there has been more business done in this department than ever before.

The Bankruptcy Department, like the Collection Department, shows a most successful year; that is, it has collected more money and paid the same to creditors, and received more fees for services than in any previous year, as shown by the treasurer's report. In February last it handled the largest case in bankruptcy that has ever come into this office, thereby controlling $35,000 in claims, and by this combined action elected a trustee of its own choice. Thus it has produced good results, which of course is largely due to the good management of the office and its attorneys in handling the matter. In this case the secretary made his initial trip to Chicago in behalf of the creditors. Therefore, I would respectfully suggest that when members are interested in such matters they immediately send their claims to this office and do not listen to the solicitations of outside collection agencies or lawyers who may desire to control their claims.

To our secretary, Mr. Condit, I want to say that his work during the year has earned our commendation, and I am sure that perseverance along the lines which he has been working will continue to show good results and inure to the profit of the office which he so successfully fills.

During the past year there was organized in Chicago a National Association of Stationers and Manufacturers. Our organization was honored by that body in the election of your president to the office of first vice-president. While he recognized that it was an honor paid to the organization which he was sent to Chicago to represent, he also recognizes and appreciates the personal honor conferred, and hopes he will always retain the high position in the respect of the stationers of America, which their treatment of him leads him to think he has attained.

In closing I want to thank the officers and employees of the Board for their uniform courtesy during the past year. The unanimity which has existed in the general conduct of every branch of our duties has done very much toward making the result which we show to-day.

The following reports were then read and approved, and ordered to be entered in full upon the minutes:

BROTHERHOOD OF COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS' DINNER.

THE twentieth annual dinner of the Brotherhood of Commercial Travellers was given on Friday evening, December 30, in the College Room of the Hotel Astor, New York City. It was first intended to give the dinner in the Yacht Room, but that room being found too small the Brotherhood and its friends were seated in the larger College Room. This room, decorated with exquisite frescoes symbolic of various phases of college life, college arms and insignias, etc., was brilliantly lighted and gayly festooned with flowers and holly. Upwards of fifty persons were present, and presided over by Charles Walton, affectionately known to his many friends in the trade as "Pop" Walton. After the coffee had been served William J. Kelly, in behalf of the souvenir committee, with a brief appropriate address, presented to the retiring president the badge of his office, an ivory gavel suspended from a scarlet watered silk ribbon. Mr. Walton thanked the Brotherhood warmly for the many tokens of affection received by him throughout his connection with the fraternity of travelling men, and trusted that the bond of sympathy that held the organization of the B. C. T. together for nearly a generation would grow stronger and endure for another generation and beyond. With a touching reference to the brethren who had been called to rest during the past year Mr. Walton closed his remarks. Mr. Tibbits, an old friend of the Brotherhood, then favored the company with a number of vocal selections and some well-told stories. A. Growoll, John H. Black, William B. Walker, Jonas Langfeld and John Hoven-don were among the speakers.

Letters of regret were received from Stanley Harris, of Baltimore, H. M. and Clarence Caldwell and others. Telegrams were also read from a number of prominent statesmen and others who were prevented from attending by previous engagements or pressing public business.

As the dinner was opened by singing "Auld Lang Syne," so was it closed by singing "Vive la Compagnie," Brother William J. Kelly leading.

ARREST OF THE OFFICERS OF THE ABBEY PRESS.

THE REV. DR. CARLOS MARTYN, formerly president of the bankrupt Abbey Press, was arrested on January 3, at his home, No. 125 East Twenty-eighth Street, New York City, on a warrant charging him with alleged grand larceny in connection with the same acts upon which his partner, Charles F. Rideal, was indicted by the grand jury last week. Dr. Martyn was taken before Justice McMahon in the General Sessions and was remanded to the Tombs, but gave bail.

The Abbey Press was incorporated in 1902 by Dr. Martyn and Rideal, with a capital of $10,000, under the laws of New York and New Jersey. The firm occupied a portion of the fourth floor of the building at No. 114 Fifth Avenue, New York City. It began to publish books at the expense of their authors.

In December, 1902, when Max Hart became identified with the Abbey Press, he caused to be hired a room on the second floor of the building for the ostensible manufacture of schoolbags, although it is claimed by the stores who supplied the material that only two or three were manufactured. Instead of devoting the silks to the manufacture of bags, the plaintiffs allege that they were sent to a public auctioneer and sold at about fifty cents on the dollar.

The insurance companies, becoming suspicious as to the origin of the fire that destroyed the premises occupied by the Abbey Press, refused to pay, and John J. Kirkpatrick, of Patchogue, brought suit against the Germania Fire Insurance Company for $860, seven other suits, aggregating $10,000, depending on the result of this suit. It was decided March 15, 1904, in favor of the insurance company.

While Assistant District Attorney Garvan was investigating the fire two creditors got judgments, aggregating $2500, against the Abbey Press, and levied on the property. The concern failed in May, 1903. A little later it was announced that the New York Abbey Press had been sold out to the Abbey Press of New Jersey, which, in turn, had been absorbed by the Abbey Press Consolidated.

Dr. Martyn and Rideal were once associated with F. Tennyson Neely as his "literary advisers." When Neely went into bankruptcy they founded the Abbey Press and carried on business along the old lines. Dr. Martyn was head of the concern for a while, and then Rideal succeeded him. Dr. Martyn retained his interests in the firm, however, and served as a director.

BRITISH AUTHORS ON AMERICAN COPYRIGHT.

THE London Standard having opened its columns to a discussion of the alleged injustice done to British authors by the American copyright law, numerous prominent writers are airing their opinions without, however, displaying any unanimity regarding the remedy. Sir Conan Doyle is strongly for retaliation and Hall Caine as strongly against it. Andrew Lang confesses that the whole question of protection is too metaphysical for him.

The single point upon which there is a semblance of agreement is in a suggestion by Mrs. W. K. Clifford, approved by Hall Caine and others, that a clause be inserted in the American law giving British and other foreign authors the privilege of copyright within one year.

SPAIN TO IMPORT BOOKS FREE.

UNITED STATES MINISTER HARDY, at Madrid, has informed the State Department that a royal order has been issued by the ministry of finance permitting the free entry into Spain of books from the following countries (printed in the language of the country of origin), in reciprocation of the free entry into said countries of books printed in Spain: Denmark, the Netherlands, Sweden and the United States. American books imported into Spain were heretofore subject to a duty of 13 pesetas per 2.2 pounds ($1.14 per pound).

JAMES MACDONALD'S 25TH ANNIVERSARY.

THE year 1905 marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of James Macdonald, of New York City as a master bookbinder. As one of the most successful of the craft in New York, and occupying singly a place in this country which in England is shared by Riviere and Zaehnsdorf, a brief notice of his career, "pour encourager les autres," will at this time be appropriate. Mr. Macdonald served his apprenticeship in Glasgow, and upon coming out of his time secured a position in Manchester, England. He soon realized that the opportunities for a working man in England were few and far between, and resolved to emigrate to the United States. At the age of twenty-three years he set out and landed in New York with little more than a thorough knowledge—such as is taught in Scotland—of his business. This was in 1873, when William Matthews was at the zenith of his fame, and Macdonald at once secured a position with him. This turned out to be a second apprenticeship, for he remained in the place for seven years. At the end of this period Mr. Macdonald had saved enough money to start business in a small way, which he did in conjunction with two other journeymen friends under the firm name of Fitzpatrick, Macdonald & Riley. The partners remained together for a few years, when Messrs. Fitzpatrick and Riley were bought out by Macdonald. After continuing in business for a time he found that his plant and its location in Williamsburgh were respectively too small and too inconveniently situated for a business which was growing by leaps and bounds. Just about this time he made the acquaintance of William Launder, and in conjunction with him formed the well-known firm of Launder & Macdonald, which continued for ten years. Both partners then decided to continue alone, and the partnership above-mentioned is the last one in which Mr. Macdonald was interested.

Successively occupying shops on South Fifth Avenue, Lafayette Place and West Twenty-seventh Street—each move marking a growth in business—Mr. Macdonald to-day, by dint of saving, industry and business capacity is the largest "custom" bookbinder in the United States. He has made several trips to Europe in order to secure the finest levant morocos that are allowed to leave France, and, in addition, has imported a great many novelties which have rendered his bindings distinctive. Mr. Macdonald's reward has been according to his work and character—prosperity and a host of friends whom we join in wishing him many happy returns of the day.

OBITUARY NOTES.

THE REV. RICHARD LOVETT, secretary of the Religious Tract Society since 1899, and a well-known writer on religious subjects, died on December 29, in London, aged fifty-three years.

EDWARD M. BARNES, a son of the late A. S. Barnes, died at his home in Ridgefield Park, N. J., December 29. Mr. Barnes, who was for a time connected with A. S. Barnes & Co., was in recent years president and director of the Barnes Real Estate Association, secretary and director of the Eclectic Press, and director in Braunworth & Co.

FRANCIS HENRY NICHOLS, author of "Through Hidden Shensi," is reported to have died in Tibet. Mr. Nichols was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., October 31, 1868. After graduating from a Chicago High School he became a newspaper correspondent, representing several newspapers in Cuba during the Spanish-American War. In 1901, as correspondent of the Christian Herald, he went to China, riding 750 miles from Peking to Sian in the province of Shensi, thence 700 miles in canoes to Han Kow. At the time of his death he was heading for Lhassa in the company of a few Chinese.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

JAMES JEFFREY ROCHE, poet, novelist and the editor of The Boston Pilot, has been appointed by the President consul to Genoa, and expects to sail for his post this month.

ELMER DOVER, private secretary to the late Senator Hanna, at the request of the Hanna family, is collecting data to be used in the official biography of "the advance agent of prosperity."

A. CAHAN is completing a novel of striking character which he has been engaged upon for a long time, picturing the actual inner life of Russia and the strange adventures of the revolutionists. Mr. Cahan was a member of the revolutionary party, and was forced to fly from Russia to avoid Siberia.

O. HENRY, the name on the title-page of the amusing novel of Central American politics, "Cabbages and Kings," is a pseudonym. The incognito of the author is preserved by him as far as possible. O. Henry, after many years of wandering through the West, has settled in New York, with his "eyes wide open," as he says, and it is to be expected that the oddities of New York life will have as amusing treatment from his hand in the near future as the oddities of Western life have in the past.

ANNA M. STODDART is preparing a biography of Isabella Bird Bishop. Mrs. Bishop deserves to be commemorated as probably the most widely travelled woman of the last century, and her many discoveries and books demand for her a place among the names of men and women who have contributed to the world's knowledge. "Korea and Her Neighbors," one of her latest publications, was brought into prominence by the course that events in the East have taken. Miss Stoddart was the chosen biographer of John Stuart Blackie, and has published many books that attest her ability to perform successfully her present task.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE rumor, widely circulated last week, that Everybody's Magazine had been purchased by representatives of the Standard Oil Company's interests, and that Lawson's further chapters of "Frenzied Finance" would be discontinued, is emphatically denied by Ridgeway, Thayer & Co., and by Mr. Lawson.

THOMAS E. WATSON, of Thomson, Ga., the candidate of the People's Party for President at the last election, incorporated with the Secretary of State at Albany, N. Y., on December 27, a stock company called Tom Watson's Magazine, for the purpose of publishing and circulating a monthly literary periodical of that name. The corporation is capitalized at $125,000, divided into 12,500 shares. It begins business with $3000 capital. The directors are Thomas E. Watson and John H. Girdner, William L. Daniels, Richard Duffy and Edward S. Green, of New York. The principal office is in New York City.

"THE History of the Standard Oil Company," by Ida M. Tarbell, recently brought out by McClure, Phillips & Co. in two handsome volumes, contains all the facts relative to the Standard that Miss Tarbell was able to gather, but not all the facts that she was able to collect about the career and personality of John D. Rockefeller. In her investigations she ran across a whole mass of material about the great organizer of the biggest "trust" the world has ever seen, which did not belong in her history. She is now at work on this material, and there will shortly appear in McClure's Magazine an extended sketch of this remarkable financier, showing his character, his endowments, his opportunities, and what he made of them.

BUSINESS NOTES.

In their new quarters they will have more extensive manufacturing facilities, having installed an entirely new plant.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Publishers' and Printers' Engraving Co. is reported to have gone into involuntary bankruptcy.

NEW YORK CITY.—Judge Edward B. Thomas in the United States Circuit Court, according to the New York Sun, appointed the Manhattan Trust Company receiver for the assets of Merrill & Baker, at 9-11 East Sixteenth Street. Judge Thomas is reported to have said that the receivers had been appointed in a suit in equity, and that no contention had been made that the concern was insolvent. He understands that the company had trouble in collecting its debts and that there were plenty of assets, but not available. The receiver was appointed at the instance of two stockholders, who are also creditors. Merrill & Baker is a New York corporation and is capitalized at $1,250,000. Daniel D. Merrill is president.

NEW YORK CITY.—Solomon Zickel, who has been in the book business in this city for upwards of forty-seven years, has sold out his importing business to the International News Company. Mr. Zickel for the present will retain his publishing business, including the Novellen-Schatz, "Familien Kalender," Eben's "Sprachmeister," etc., and a portion of his antiquarian stock. The International News Company will have the exclusive agency of the Novellen-Schatz.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

McCLURE PHILLIPS & Co. are publishing a third edition of their "Walter Pater," in the Contemporary Men of Letters Series.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish next spring a new novel by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, the title of which has not yet been determined upon.

THE well-received Christian Science novel, "Talitha Cumi," published by Lee & Shepard, on November 15, is already in its second edition, and a third printing will soon be required.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have begun to publish "The Gallery of Masterpieces," the series of reproductions from paintings by the old masters, fully described by us about a month ago.

GEORGE F. FOSTER, who has been for many years the treasurer and advertising manager of Frederick A. Stokes Company, has retired from business because of ill health. Mr. Foster intends to enjoy his well-earned rest at his country home or in travel.

EXACTLY half of the novels printed by the Appletons this fall were written by women. Elinor Macartney Lane, the author of "Nancy Stair," heads the list as the most successful, and it also includes Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler, Frances Davidge and Anna Y. Condict.

THE BROADWAY PUBLISHING COMPANY, 835 Broadway, New York City, announce for immediate publication "A Dictionary Gentleman and His Family," by Caroline Mortimer Gilbert; "A Submarine Tour," by Frank Balch; also, "The Renewal," by Mary Tarver Carroll.

FRANK PERGANDE, 320 Maple Street, Milwaukee, Wis., has published an instruction book on United States Civil Service examinations, covering upwards of one hundred different examinations. The book has been favorably recommended by government officials.

CUPPLES & LEON, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City, have become sole agents in the United States for Edward B. Lent's "Being Done Good," an amusing account of a rheumatic's experiences with doctors and specialists who promised to do him good. A new illustrated edition is now ready and is being rapidly taken up.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Akron, O., has just ready a boys' book entitled "A Gallant Grenadier," by Captain F. S. Brereton, with illustrations by Wal Paget. This is a tale of the Crimean war, in the course of which is given a description of how the "Gallant Six Hundred" met their fate, the hero being among them.

THE WA-WAN PRESS, organized in 1901, at Newton Centre, Mass., by Arthur Farwell, a pupil of Humperdink, for the purpose of producing new music by American composers that should make its appeal wholly on grounds of artistic excellence, announces that a feature of the 1905 series will be in the instrumental part, developments of the music of the Indians of the Southwest, Navajos, Tiguas, Cahuillas and others, and in the vocal part, some of the best Spanish-American songs of California.

GINN & Co. have published in their Standard English Classics a collection of the poems by Elizabeth Barrett Browning, edited by Elizabeth Lee, sister of Sidney Lee, the distinguished Shakespearean scholar. Miss Lee's work consists of selecting the pieces and in editing the text, with biographical and critical introduction and bibliographical and explanatory notes. There are twenty-three shorter poems given in complete form, all of which, as well as the extracts, are supposed to indicate some mental phase of the poet.

THE ANGLER'S ANNUAL, 1905, edited by Charles Bradford, and published by the Nassau Press, Jamaica, N. Y., is mostly composed of an alphabetical enumeration of American fishes, a popular key by which the fishes may be instantly identified. It is a sort of dictionary of the fresh water and salt water species—their appellations, colors, haunts, habits, habits, foods, baits, weights, ranges, tides, seasons, sizes, shapes and similes, with a practical account of the popular rods, baits and tackle used in their capture. There is an index of fifteen hundred local names, and a summary of the fishing resorts.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have just published "The Student's Chronological New Testament," by Archibald T. Robertson, professor in the Louisville Theological Seminary, a volume of peculiar attraction to those who are interested in early church history and New Testament study. They have in press a new book dealing with the questions and problems of the everyday man, by Charles M. Sheldon, author of "In His Steps," to be entitled "The Heart of the World;" also, a novel dealing with the Quakers and their trials, entitled "For a Free Conscience," by L. C. Wood, a "member of meeting."

THE RANDOLPH-FREEMAN COMPANY 24-26 East 21st Street, New York, have in preparation for early publication "The Parliamentarian," by Cora Welles Trow, a timely little volume which will be of great service to the average chairman of assemblies and the members of societies wishing to conduct their gatherings in a strictly parliamentary manner. The book is so arranged as to make it an easy matter to turn to all given points, and can be readily carried and easily consulted. A special feature of the book treats of the proper methods to be employed in the preparation for an extemporaneous speech, and the rules which govern informal debate.

E. P. DUTTON & COMPANY will publish at once George Gissing's last book, "Veranilda." At the time of Mr. Gissing's death the book was finished with the exception of two or three chapters. Frederick Harrison, his friend, read the proof and contributes an introduction to the book, leaving the story exactly as the author had written it. The story itself deals with the subject which was nearest the author's heart—Rome, Central and Southern Italy, where the author had spent his last and his happiest years. Mr. Harrison believes that it is in this field, rather than in the trials and tragedies of middle class life, that Mr. Gissing had at last found his true sphere.

WILLIAM WOOD & Co., New York, have published for private circulation an interesting sketch of their firm, entitled "One Hundred Years of Publishing, [1804-1904,] a brief historical account of the house of William Wood and Company." The booklet is an amplification of the sketch printed in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, August 30, 1902, and is illustrated with portraits, views of the different premises occupied by the firm and a facsimile of the first book printed by Samuel Wood, the founder of the firm, and one of a steamboat ticket with an advertisement of William Wood's on the reverse. The firm of William Wood & Co., with the single exception of the Methodist Book Concern, is the oldest publishing house in New York City.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS announce a new volume from the pen of the author of "Letters to a Son from His Self-Made Father." It will be entitled "A Self-Made Man's Wife: Her Letters to Her Son." The author, Charles Eustace Merriman, says that although he has tried to please those readers who were primarily attracted to the first book by its humor, he has also striven to make the second a more serious piece of literature by showing what the self-made father and son owed to the homely, old-fashioned wife and mother, with all her goodness and kindness, not unmingled with shrewdness and a keen knowledge of human nature. They will publish shortly "England Under the Stuarts," by George M. Trevelyan; "The Governance of England," by Sidney Low; "Constantine the Great," by J. B. Firth; "Thomas Cranmer and the English Reformation," by Albert F. Pollard; also, the first part of "The History of Furniture," by Percy MacQuoid.

PICK-UPS.

"I want a letter writer with love letters."

"Here is a fine one in five volumes—the last volume will appear in three months."

"I'm afraid it will be all off by that time."—Fliegende Blätter.

BUSINESS WISDOM FROM "OLD GORGON GRAHAM."

"IN business as well as in war the regret-to-report man gets a gloomy welcome at headquarters."

"It isn't what a man's got in the bank, but what he's got in his head, that makes him a great merchant."

"Look in a man's eyes for honesty; around his mouth for weakness; at his chin for strength; at his hands for temperance; at his nails for cleanliness."

"WHEN a man makes a specialty of knowing how the other fellow ought to spend his money he usually thinks in millions and works for hundreds."

"It's better to see ten bores than to miss one buyer. A house never gets so big that it can afford to sniff at a hundred pound sausage order, or to feel that any customer is so small that it can afford not to bother with him. You've got to open a good many oysters to find a pearl."

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of free nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LAYFOLD, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consulter is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information by a convenient method.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volumes covering the periods 1876-84 and 1884-90 are also out of print.

A Comprehensive and Copiously Illustrated Account of the Wonderful

Poses by B. H. KUWASHIMA
Columbia University, N. Y.

Copiously Illustrated, Cloth, net, $1.00. (Postage 14 cents)

HERE, in condensed form, for ready instruction, is the essence of "Jiu-Jitsu"—the methods of attack and self-defense which enable the weak to overcome the strong. Much has been written about "Jiu-Jitsu" of late, but no book has treated the subject in a manner which enables the reader so thoroughly to grasp the knack of the combat tricks as this book.

"JIU-JITSU" is a perfect defense against the use of fists and all the ordinary forms of wrestling. An expert in this art can successfully meet an armed adversary or a man of greatly superior fighting skill. Every man should have some understanding of "Jiu-Jitsu."

A.D. 1806

IN that year Noah Webster issued his first dictionary. The law covering copyrights then was 14 years with a 14 year renewal—so that in 1834 (1806 plus the two terms of 14 years each—28 years in all) even Noah Webster himself had no exclusive right to his own name as applied to a dictionary, editorial work on which he had done.

NINE YEARS LATER—in 1843—he died and G. & C. Merriam bought from his executors—what? The estate's right to an unexpired term of copyright in a dictionary he published subsequent to the 1806 book, and they bought nothing else because the executors had nothing else to sell them.

Could his executors sell a right that was not part of his estate? Certainly not—and if they could not—where do G. & C. Merriam's successors, the G. & C. Merriam Co., get sufficient assurance to claim rights that were not the property of their predecessors? I believe it will be granted that such a degree of assurance is a valuable asset in some occupations, (notably brass foundries,) but it is not worth much in the publishing business.

The plain truth of the matter is G. & C. Merriam Co. are so much afraid of G. W. Ogilvie's new Webster's Imperial Dictionary that they are acting in a most unbusinesslike manner, going about with bully, bluster and brag, threatening everybody with suits for damages if they dare to sell Webster Dictionaries not issued by G. & C. Merriam Co. Why don't they come to Chicago and get an injunction restraining me from publishing my book if I am doing that which is wrong? As they don't do it—do you need to fear them? Not much. If I've made it too hot for them—why don't they shut off the furnace instead of threatening to open the front gate—the first method is safe—the second is apt to result in a bad cold. Bear in mind, 1806 to 1905, 99 years. A copyright never lasted over 42 years, and here is the constitutional provision under which they are granted at all—see Constitution of the United States, Section VIII., Article 8:

"To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing, for limited times, to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries."

Do you notice that "for limited times?" That doesn't mean 99 years; it means just what the law says—42 years now, and meant 28 years in 1806. G. & C. Merriam Co.'s actions make me think of that politician who upon requesting a Governor to do something for him was met by the objection that what he wanted done was unconstitutional, and who replied "What's the Constitution between friends?" Only they go that remark one better and say, in effect, that they guess the Constitution doesn't apply to them at all in connection with Webster's Dictionaries. Well now doesn't it? We've all heard of the fellow that had "one more guess coming." What is this fuss all about anyway?

IT'S A SHORT STORY

Geo. W. Ogilvie publishes the best Webster's Dictionary ever issued, Webster's Imperial Dictionary, which is being sold at $5.00 retail, just one half the price of the Merriam International that appeared in 1890, 15 years ago. That's where the shoe pinches—it is the strong competition of a better book, a newer book, a book on which a living discount is allowed to the trade, a book at half their retail price, thumb index thrown in without extra cost to the purchaser—a book with 1956 pages from A to Z in place of 1681 pages as the nearest competitor has, that's what's worrying them. Good reason did you say? Yes I agree with you perfectly.

GEO. W. OGILVIE, Publisher, Chicago, Ill.

Had Harold MacGrath's story of a Washington escapade, "THE MAN ON THE BOX," been written for the stage and well acted, it would have been voted a clean, spirited and clever society comedy, and in book form it deserves no less complimentary a rating. The author seems to have been in the best of humor with himself, his characters and his audience; and takes us into his confidence with an engaging unconventionality which almost goes to the point of winking at us over the lovers' shoulders.
